COMMERCIAL RANGES IN RESIDENCES

It appears that more commercial gas ranges are being installed in residential buildings. Since most of these ranges are listed by the listing agencies for commercial installations only, once they are installed in dwellings, their listing would be voided. In this case, the installation should not be allowed or an approved certified testing lab should be called in to recertify the equipment for that type of installation.

Please call the Mechanical Section for the list of approved testing labs.
