What We Do

Food Recovery
Educate restaurants and grocery stores on the Good Samaritan Act to increase food donations.

Identify those in need
Start asking the questions if individuals are facing food insecurity.

Food Distribution
Connect those in need with pantries that provide wholesome food.

Questions to Help Determine Level of Food Insecurity

Question 1:
- “Within the past 12 months we worried whether our food would run out before we got money to buy more”

Question 2:
- “Within the past 12 months the food we bought just didn’t last and we didn’t have money to get more.”

Food Pantries in Orange County

- Baskets represent pantries directly served by Waste Not OC.
- Houses represent transitional housing agencies that give food to their residents, not to the general public.
- Red dots are places that distribute food. Some pantries double as non-profit agencies.

“This culture of waste has made us insensitive even to the waste and disposal of food, which is even more despicable when all over the world, unfortunately, many individuals and families are suffering from hunger and malnutrition. Once our grandparents were very careful not to throw away any leftover food. Consumerism has led us to become used to an excess and daily waste of food, to which, at times, we are no longer able to give a just value which goes well beyond mere economic parameters. We should all remember, however, that the food we throw away is as if [it were] stolen from the table of the poor, the hungry! I encourage everyone to reflect on the problem of thrown away and wasted food to identify ways and means that, by seriously addressing this issue, are a vehicle of solidarity and sharing with the needy.”
