Exhibits & Displays

Children, families and educators are invited to partake in the Los Angeles Environmental Education Fair on Saturday, March 12, 2011, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Los Angeles County Arboretum & Botanic Garden. Come explore educational activities, hands-on lesson plans, and resources that you can use at school and at home. A variety of service-learning, community action projects will be on display that will inspire you and provide ideas you can use at school, home, and in your community. Contact Scott C. Gardner at (909) 599-4615, if you'd like to participate as an exhibitor.

Interactive Events

Live entertainment and music will be performed by the Rhythm Child and Aaron Nigel Smith. Other interactive events include hands-on art projects, storytelling, wild animal exhibit, free pine seedling and an "Eco-Tour" to some of the unique areas of the Arboretum. Join us for free workshops designed to teach families and children ways they can help plant seeds for a greener future!

Competitions

Using a map and compass, teams will explore the ecological treasures of the Arboretum during the Ecological Treasure Hunt. Participants are challenged to answer questions about the world of nature. The competition is open to students and the general public in three divisions: Grades 4-5, 6-9, & 9-12.

Contact: Gary Widdison at (562) 922-6889.

Roots & Shoots is incredibly excited to be a part of the 2011 Los Angeles Environmental Education Fair. In addition to providing a few youth presentations, over 400 Roots & Shoots youth members from around Los Angeles County will be there to exhibit their environmental service projects and share with other likeminded organizations.

A transportation stipend may be available for qualifying schools and children's organizations.

For more information, please visit our website www.LAEFF.org or contact Joan Smith (gsgirl64@yahoo.com) or Gary Widdison (Widdison_Gary@laco.edu).
