

Local

Plastic Bag Ban To Go Into Effect In WeHo

February 19, 2013 11:59 PM

Share on email6

View Comments

(credit: File)

Filed under

Local, News

Related tags

City Council, Grocery Stores, Plastic Bag Ban, plastic bags, Retail Stores, Reusable Bags, West Hollywood

WEST HOLLYWOOD (CBSLA.com) — A ban on single-use plastic bags will go into effect at West Hollywood stores Wednesday.

The ban, which was approved by the City Council last August, will affect grocery and retail spots that are at least 10,000 square feet.

Stores in West Hollywood that are smaller than 10,000 square feet have until Aug. 20 to comply with the ban.

Shoppers can either bring their own reusable bags or buy paper bags at the stores for 10 cents each.

Santa Monica, Malibu, Long Beach and other cities have already prohibited plastic bags in stores.

(©2013 CBS Local Media, a division of CBS Radio Inc. All Rights Reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten, or redistributed. Wire services contributed to this report.)